July 6, 2022

Dear Friends of Women for Sobriety,

It is with both sadness and gratitude that we announce that after four years of service, Adrienne Miller has resigned from her position as President/Chief Executive Officer at WFS, effective July 15, 2022.

During her time with the organization as President/CEO, Adrienne oversaw great changes. Under her leadership, our programs grew and our services became more easily available to all women addressing substance use issues. From her live Tuesday Talks, her outreach to professional recovery organizations, her development of a strategic plan, to creating the first ever virtual annual conference, Adrienne demonstrated leadership, flexibility, wisdom, and what we simply refer to here as 4Cness.

We are incredibly grateful to Adrienne for the energy, vision, and heart that she dedicated to the New Life Program and to the WFS participants she served these past four years. We wish her the absolute best in all her future plans and endeavors.

The Board of Directors has named Susan (Suz) Croutwater to serve as acting Executive Director until we permanently fill the position. Suz has been active with WFS since 2008 and became an employee in 2019. Suz's background includes 35 years in an IT career. She brings outstanding expertise to our program, having earned a Master of Public Administration, with an additional Graduate Certificate in Nonprofit Management. Adrienne and the Board have every confidence in Suz's abilities, along with all WFS staff members as well as our capable volunteers, to make this a smooth transition for the women in our New Life Program.

We wish to thank each of you for your past and continued support of our vision of creating a world where individuals live mindful lives and take responsibility for their thoughts and actions. If you have any questions or concerns about this transition, please don't hesitate to reach out to WFS staff at 215-536-8026 or email contact@womenforsobriety.org.

Sincerely,

WFS Board of Directors
